

McDonald's Marketing Report

Ololade Oroyemi, Avery Sellers, Ali Sellers, Yijun Sun, Harrison Whitmore, Winnie Zheng, and Zitong Zhao

Company Overview

- Founded in 1940 by Richard and Maurice McDonald
- Originally was a barbeque joint, later on switching to a burgers and fries
- Discovered by Ray Kroc, a traveling salesman, who eventually bought the company from the McDonald's brothers
- Currently, McDonald's is located in more than 120 countries and serves about 69 million customers daily
- Reported a total revenue of 25.5 billion dollars by the end of 2023
- Around 150,000 employee worldwide, 57% being women and 35% being Hispanic

Company Overview - Immediate Environment

Competitors

- KFC is McDonald's largest competitor by volume, but has a poor reputation and is reliant on chicken.
- Burger King focuses on the same products as McDonald's with slightly more variety, but is comparatively weak on breakfast.

Physical Environment

- Among other impacts, McDonald's dependence on beef production causes massive environmental damage.
- The company have made some efforts to be climate-conscious with recycled packaging and a pledge to reach net-zero emissions.

Corporate Partners

- Coca-Cola and McDonald's have a long-held close partnership.
- McDelivery is facilitated via partnerships with Uber and Doordash.

Macro-Environment

Culture

- Localized menu to reflect regional taste
- Fast food is popular in the South

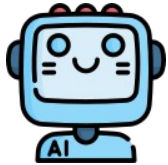

Demographics

- White is the largest racial population
- 51.1% females
- Median salary: $80,610
- Median age: 38.9 years

Social

- Gen-Z are committed to purchase eco-friendly and ethical products
- 82% of US consumer prioritize health & wellness products

Technology

- AI enhances predictive analytics and customer service
- Robots are cooking, packing, and delivering food

Economics

- Inflation rate increased by 2.4%
- 5.33% interest rate
- Steady dollar value in the international market

Political/Legal

- Trade tension between US and China
- Food safety and environmental regulation
- Rise of minimum wages

SWOT Analysis

Strengths: Strong Brand Recognition: Recognizable globally with consistent branding. ⁷⁰ Extensive Global Presence: Over 38,000 outlets worldwide. ⁶³ Operational Efficiency and Supply Chain Management: Optimized supply chain ensuring consistent quality and fast service. ⁵⁹ Menu Innovation: Adapts menu to meet changing preferences and local tastes. ⁶¹	Weaknesses: Dependence on Franchise Model: Limits control over daily operations, leading to inconsistent experience. ⁶⁰ Perception of Unhealthy Food: Criticism for promoting fast food linked to health issues. ⁵⁸ High Employee Turnover: Increased costs due to high turnover in lower-level positions. ⁶⁶ Limited Flexibility in Supply Chain: Challenges in adapting to sudden market changes or disruptions. ⁶⁸
Opportunities: Growing Demand for Plant-Based Products: Expansion of menu with plant-based options like the McPlant. ⁶² Digital Transformation and Delivery Services: Growth in digital customer base through online ordering and delivery. ⁷² Expanding into Emerging Markets: Capitalizing on untapped markets with growing urban populations. ⁶⁵ Focus on Sustainability: Commitment to sustainable sourcing and eco-friendly packaging. ⁶⁷	Threats: Intense Competition: From global and local fast-food chains. ⁶⁴ Changing Consumer Preferences: Shift towards healthier eating habits. ⁶⁹ Economic Fluctuations: Vulnerability to economic downturns and currency fluctuations. ⁷¹ A growing international population: increases demand for diverse fast food options. ⁷³

Research Objective:

Assess customer preferences and demand for international cuisine items on McDonald's menu.

Research Design

Research Type

Survey: Understanding customer preferences for international cuisine menu items at McDonald's

Research Method

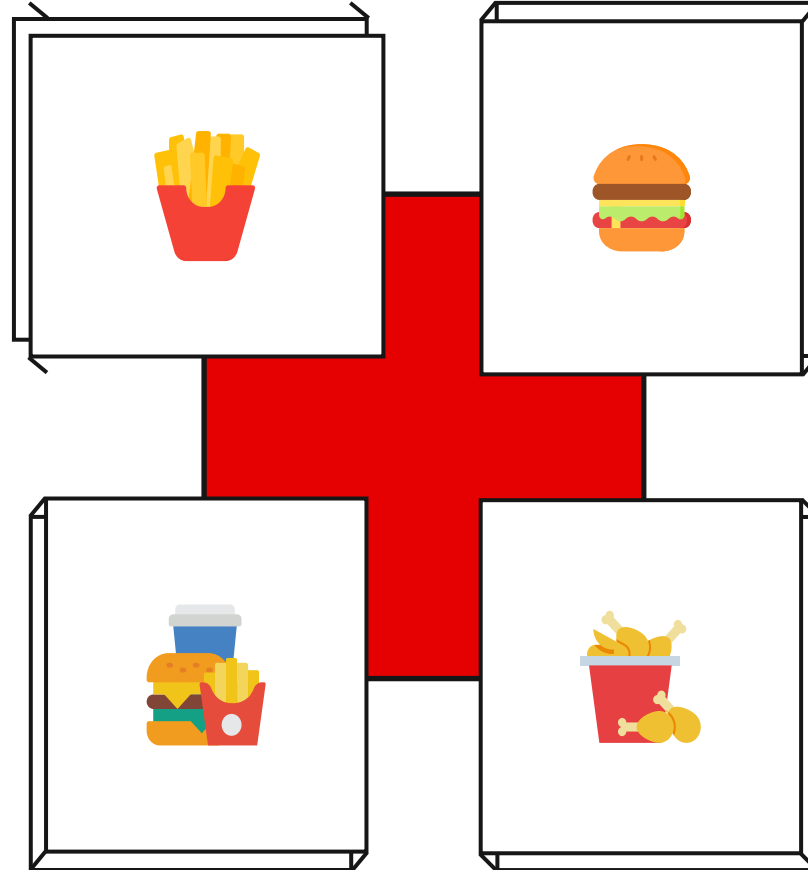

Method: Google Form Survey
Aimed at ethnic majority and minorities within the U.S (comfort vs. curiosity)

Question Format

Structured: Demographic questions (age, race, gender)
Unstructured: Lifestyle and behavior questions (emotions, motivations, and experiences)

Distribution

Survey Link: Shared on various social media platforms (instagram, facebook)
QR Codes: posted around Metro Atlanta area

Mistakes

Lack of Sample Diversity:

- Overrepresentation of certain demographics: Approximately 50% of participants were aged 18-24, 35% had some college credit, 65% identified as White, and 70% as female.
- Age and annual income were not required questions on our survey leading to incomplete data representation.

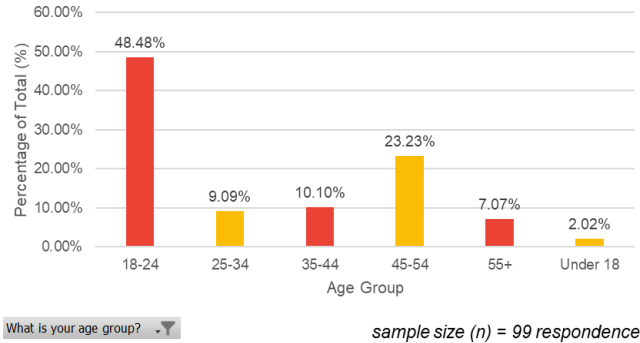

What would we do differently?

Broaden Sample Group Diversity:

- Strategically recruit internationals who live in the United States with differing education levels, racial/ethnic backgrounds, and genders.
- Share the survey on multilingual platforms and partner with international student associations, cultural clubs, and community centers to reach diverse groups effectively.
- Ensure that the Annual Household Income and age is a required question to obtain more complete data

Data Analysis

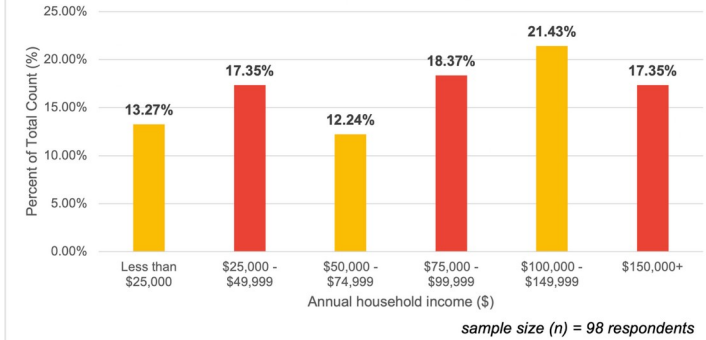

What is your age group?

Demographics Summary:

- Gender: 70% Female, 27% Male, 3% Non-Binary
- Ethnicity: 65% White, 15% Asian, 10% Black or African American, 8% Hispanic or Latino, 2% Mixed or Multiracial
- Age Groups: Largest group is 18-24 (48.48%)
- Income Levels: Broad range, with 21.43% in $100,000-$149,999 bracket
- Education Levels: 35% some college credit but no degree, 31% have Bachelor's degree

What is your annual household income?

International Cuisine

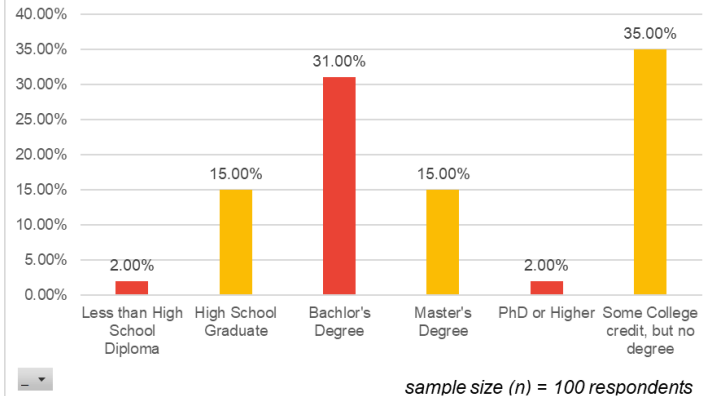

Which type of international cuisine would you be most interested in trying from McDonald's?

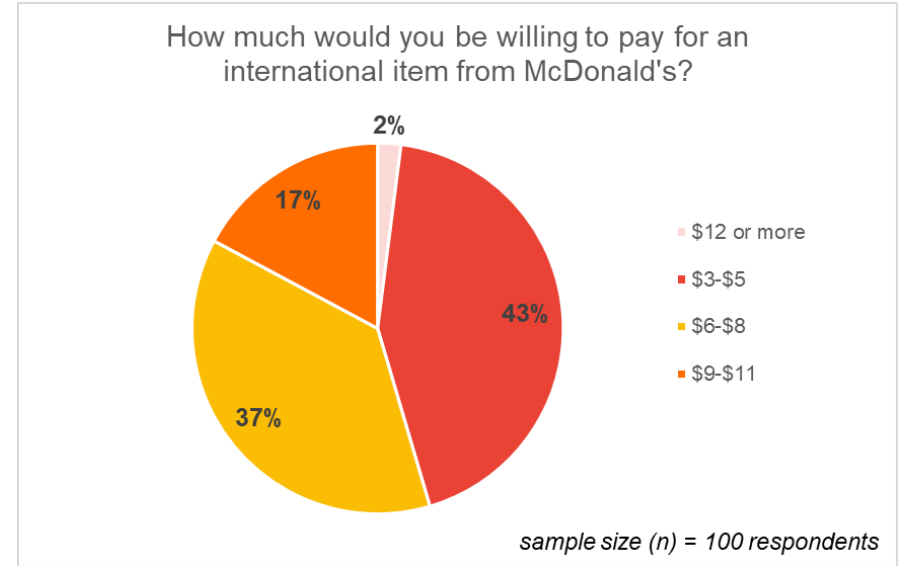

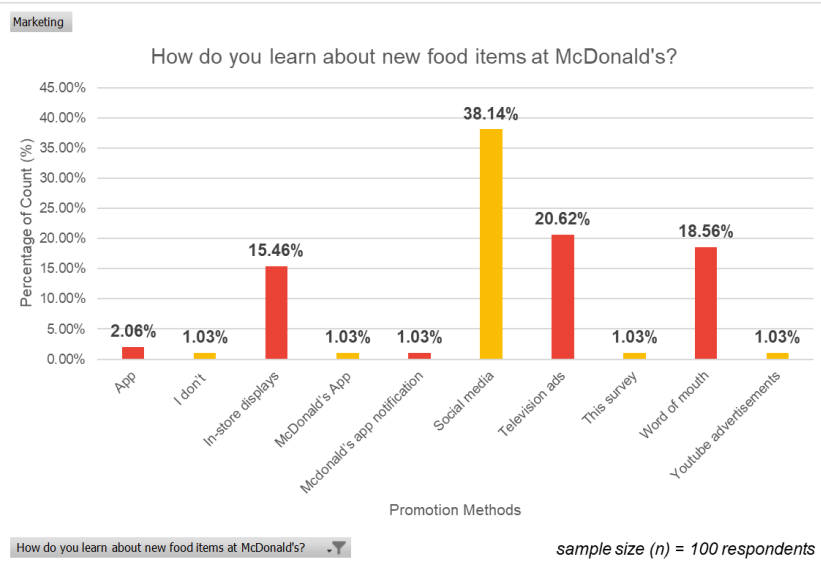

Geographical & Cultural Preferences:

- Location: 75% of respondents in Georgia (with 29.3% in Atlanta)
- Cuisine Preferences: Preference for Asian and European cuisines (32.14% each); adventurous and open to new things (61.90%)

What is the highest degree or level of education you have completed?

Insight Development

Consumer Behavior Highlights:

- Promotion Preferences: Social media ads (38.14%); trying new international item: BOGO promotions (36.3%).
- Price Sensitivity: 80% prefer international menu items priced $3 to $8; 52.27% resistant to a 20% price increase.
- Location & Accessibility: 64% prefer items at all locations; 53.57% visit if McDonald's is within a 5-15 minute range.

Strategic Recommendations:

- Marketing Strategy: Social media promotions with influencers popular among young women.
- Pricing Strategy: Price range of $3-$8 with BOGO offers via the McDonald's rewards program.
- Product Launch: All locations in Atlanta for higher accessibility.

STP Overview

- Overall, our target market is Gen Z, female, (at least partially) college educated, white or asian, and middle-class.
- We're targeting busy but adventurous people; those who desire new cultural experiences but within the comfort and convenience of a familiar brand.

Positioning Statement: For young, adventurous people who seek new international experiences, McDonald's offers international food options that combine unique cultural flavors with the comfort, convenience, and value of a well-known, close to home fast-food chain.

Demographic Segmentation

Age

- 18-24 (Gen Z)
- ~50% of respondents
- Young people are more likely to seek adventure, try new things

Gender

- Female
- Majority of respondents -- 70%
- Majority in target city (Atlanta, U.S. in general)

Income

- $100,000 - $150,000 (Household)
- Busy people who spend their time working might seek out fast food for convenience

Education Level

- Some college credit or bachelor's degree
- Correlates with income

Race

- White or Asian
- Whites are majority in target region (Georgia, U.S. in general)
- We plan to bring Asian cuisines to the U.S. market

Psychographic - Lifestyle

- Busy Lifestyle
 - Eats out frequently for convenience
 - Unable to frequently travel for international experiences
- Mobile; Willing and able to travel 5 - 15 minutes to reach a McDonald's
- Technologically Adept
 - Attentive to social media advertising
 - Uses mobile order/loyalty reward apps for restaurants
- Frugal; Happy to pay $5 - $6 for an international food item

Other

Segmentation

Benefit

- Enjoying unique flavors
 - 47.9% of respondents
- Experiencing new cultures
 - 16.7% of respondents
- Convenience and comfort of a familiar brand
 - 53.57% would only eat at McDonald's if its 5-15 minutes from home
 - 32.2% seek 'convenience and efficiency'
- Good value for the money spent
 - 52.27% unlikely to purchase if international item priced too high
 - 31.1% seek 'cheap'

Psychographic - Self-Concept

- Adventurous and Open-Minded
- 61.9% of our survey respondents perceived themselves as 'adventurous and open to new things', along with 33.33% who 'prefer both new things and familiar things'.

Psychographic - Self-Values

- Need for cultural connectivity, worldliness
- Need for adventure, new experiences
- Need for culinary variety

Behavioral

- Non-habitual decision maker
- Occasional customers; receptive to special and limited-time event style marketing

Recommendations/Action Plan

Samurai Pork
Burger

Introduce an international menu item

- Attract young women aged 18-24, especially in the ATL area

Set a strategic price point at $5.50

- 80% of respondents are willing to pay between $3 - $8 for international cuisine

Offer Additional Reward Points

- Attract price sensitive consumers to try this product and encourage repeat visits by offering additional reward points in the McDonald's app.

Initial launch in Atlanta

- Testing the product in Atlanta locations, then expand to other metropolitan areas after initial success

Product Launch and Marketing Strategy

Samurai Pork Burger

Launching the product during Asian Heritage Month in May 2026

- Increase cultural relevance & maximize product awareness

Complete research, development, and necessary legal approvals between Jan 2025 to Jan 2026

- One year for new product development

Organizing tasting events with a potential customers from our target market

- Improve the product based on their feedback

Operational and Supply Chain Adjustments

Secure new partnerships with pork distributors

Adjust their logistics to deliver authentic Samurai Pork Burger seasoning to United States by early 2026

Increase marketing efforts with targeted social media campaigns

Collaborations with popular celebrities and influencers

Product launch schedule

We aim to sell 50,000 units by October 2026. Family-oriented promotions also play a key role → 94.4%

Summary

- Objective: Fulfill a need for international experiences by introducing unique culturally inspired items within McDonald's comfortable, convenient framework.
- Target Demographic: Young women (18-24) in Atlanta; adventurous, price sensitive, with a preference for unique flavors.
- Product Launch: Introduce Samurai Pork Burger in Atlanta, leveraging Asian Heritage Month in May 2026 to boost relevance.
- Marketing Strategy: Focus efforts on social media campaigns and reward point incentives.

Thanks!